

We support this proposal RM-10786 and agree that this should receive expedited action. We feel that as the world has dropped a code requirement for amateur licenses that it makes no sense to require an Element 1 exam for licenses in the United States and its possessions.